

Jatis Mobile Launches Consumer Mobile Email Service Using Critical Path Solutions

Critical Path's Mobile Email solution powers consumer mobile email for Indonesian Telco subscribers

JAKARTA, Indonesia – January 25, 2010 – Critical Path, Inc, a leading provider of messaging software and services, today announced that Jatis Mobile has deployed Critical Path's Mobile Email solution for the leading Indonesian telecommunications operators, reaching an audience of over 100 million mobile subscribers.

Jatis Mobile, a content provider and reseller of the Critical Path solutions, is part of Jatis Group, one of the largest information technology consultants and application development companies in Indonesia.

It is predicted that over the next few years, the majority of new mobile users will be from growing markets such as Asia, the Middle East and Latin America. Operators and device manufacturers are increasingly looking to these markets to fuel future growth.

In Indonesia, Critical Path's Mobile Email solution will strengthen Jatis Mobile's position. "Our Teleco customers are asking for new ways for their subscribers to stay connected without the high costs associated with traditional enterprise solutions. Designed specifically for consumers, Critical Path's Mobile Email enables us to deliver the innovative services and features that subscribers demand at a price they can afford," said Ferrij Lumoring, CTO, Jatis Mobile. "We see Critical Path's solution as the perfect fit for our market."

Critical Path's Mobile Email works with standards-based email services, enabling subscribers to mobilize one or more of their existing email accounts and easily send and receive multimedia content on their phones.

"We are pleased that Jatis Mobile has selected Critical Path's Mobile Email solution," said Desra Ghazfan, Director of Critical Path. "We are seeing an increasing demand for converged services in countries such as Indonesia. Since it is often more affordable to own a mobile phone instead of a computer in some areas, mobile services are vital to consumers for communications. Critical Path's Mobile Email solution provides an easy and affordable solution, giving mobile email access to all users."
